They say the number seven is lucky. And seven sure was the lucky number for the five nonprofit organizations chosen as recipients at the 7th annual Great Grant Giveaway. These community-based groups shared a record-breaking $151,860. This year’s nonprofit grantees are Homewise, International District Economic Development Center (IDEDC), Artful Life, Project Feed the Hood and Innovation Academy.

The theme of this year’s event was Tapestry: A City Woven Together, which Foundation Board Chair Walter Stern, eloquently explained as a fabric formed by weaving different threads together, much the way the Albuquerque community is made up of diverse people, businesses and ideas, all working together to form a beautiful, strong and resilient tapestry.

Each table also contained a blank, rolled-up check, representing $500 from the table sponsor. Tablemates deliberated and decided collectively which nonprofit to fund. Throughout the event, the sound of distant hooves could be ‘herd,’ too.

Finally, the herd from Southwest Capital Bank stampeded into the Hotel Albuquerque ballroom, bringing with it the bank’s mascot, Buffalo!

One person at each table designated the $100 check to one of the five nonprofits – separate and above the $500!

abqcf.org

The first surprise of the Great Grant Giveaway was when each table participant tore open an envelope at their place setting. One of these envelopes contained a lucky golden ticket worth $5000 from PNM. The fortunate winner, Anne Nokes (pictured at right), chose Homewise from the five designated nonprofits to receive the grant.

Business Braggers

In another surprise, a new Giving Circle at the Foundation, Business Braggers, was introduced. An idea created by Next Gen community leaders around the concept of Stop Bagging, Start Bragging, Business Braggers is about the positive community vibe right now: jobs are at an all-time high, new companies are moving to ABQ and the entrepreneurial ecosystem has exploded. This collective group of small business owners made an impact grant of $13,000 to the International District Economic Development Center. Want to become a Business Bragger? Email Marisa Magallanez, Advancement Manager, marisa@abqcf.org.

Anderson Charitable Foundation

Brad Robb, Executive Director, of the Anderson Charitable Foundation dropped by to give away a special grant to Project Feed the Hood. Brad spoke about the collective effort needed to help improve the health and wellbeing of the communities in which we all live, work and play, especially for people who are vulnerable and low income. Project Feed the Hood is doing just that – supporting those who are currently living in the International District and have less access to healthy, organic foods.

Future Fund and Social Giving Club

At it again! The Future Fund and Social Giving Club banded together to make one large collective impact grant of $5,000 at this year’s event. The two giving circles took it to a vote before the big day. Social Giving Club member, Sanjay Engineer and Future Fund Board Chair, Chris Jaramillo presented the grant to Homewise. Curious about joining one of the Giving Circles? Email Chanel Wiese, Future Fund Liaison, chanel@abqcf.org or Denise Nava, Social Giving Club Liaison, denise@abqcf.org.
AND, THE RESULTS ARE IN!

International District Economic Development Center - $40,825
The new IDEDC is a co-located workspace for entrepreneurs and small-business owners living in the International District. Through business development workshops, trainings, access to capital and marketing support, entrepreneurs will connect with one another and grow the entrepreneurial ecosystem in the International District.

Project Feed the Hood - $39,160
Project Feed the Hood is an education, food and community gardening initiative. The program partners with International District schools and offers youth living in a food desert the opportunity to farm in school gardens, volunteer at a community garden near the airport and earn paid agricultural internships in the South Valley.

Artful Life - $17,025
Artful Life is an arts and community organization dedicated to transforming neighborhoods through the beauty and power of collaborative art. “This is Our ID” is a long-term arts and community development project in the International District, which has involved over 200 community members and local artists in planning and coordination of public works and has collaborated with dozens of community and school-based partners.

Innovation Academy - $18,500
Located at InnovateABQ, the Innovation Academy is designed for students to pursue their interests in innovation, creativity and entrepreneurship while completing traditional degree programs at UNM. Cornerstone programs include classes that help students understand business pitches and the Tech Navigator Challenge, an initiative which pairs students with professionals at the Airforce Research Laboratory and Sandia National Laboratory.

Homewise - $36,350
Addressing issues of foreclosed homes, vacant lots and a high homeless population, Homewise will restore abandoned homes in the International District and sell them at an affordable rate to first-time home owners. Homeowners will receive financial literacy training to help build equity, establish roots and mitigate the cycle of poverty while helping to revitalize the community.

C O R P O R A T E  P A R T N E R S  I N  P H I L A N T H R O P Y
AND, THE RESULTS ARE IN!

International District Economic Development Center - $40,825
The new IDEDC is a co-located workspace for entrepreneurs and small-business owners living in the International District. Through business development workshops, trainings, access to capital and marketing support, entrepreneurs will connect with one another and grow the entrepreneurial ecosystem in the International District.

Project Feed the Hood - $39,160
Project Feed the Hood is an education, food and community gardening initiative. The program partners with International District schools and offers youth living in a food desert the opportunity to farm in school gardens, volunteer at a community garden near the airport and earn paid agricultural internships in the South Valley.

Artful Life - $17,025
Artful Life is an arts and community organization dedicated to transforming neighborhoods through the beauty and power of collaborative art. “This is Our ID” is a long-term arts and community development project in the International District, which has involved over 200 community members and local artists in planning and coordination of public works and has collaborated with dozens of community and school-based partners.

Innovation Academy - $18,500
Located at InnovateABQ, the Innovation Academy is designed for students to pursue their interests in innovation, creativity and entrepreneurship while completing traditional degree programs at UNM. Cornerstone programs include classes that help students understand business pitches and the Tech Navigator Challenge, an initiative which pairs students with professionals at the Airforce Research Laboratory and Sandia National Laboratory.

Homewise - $36,350
Addressing issues of foreclosed homes, vacant lots and a high homeless population, Homewise will restore abandoned homes in the International District and sell them at an affordable rate to first-time home owners. Homeowners will receive financial literacy training to help build equity, establish roots and mitigate the cycle of poverty while helping to revitalize the community.

Corporate Partners in Philanthropy

[List of corporate partners]
They say the number seven is lucky. And seven sure was the lucky number for the five nonprofit organizations chosen as recipients at the 7th annual Great Grant Giveaway. These community-based groups shared a record breaking $151,860. This year’s nonprofit grantees are Homewise, International District Economic Development Center (IDEDC), Artful Life, Project Feed the Hood and Innovation Academy.

The theme of this year’s event was Tapestry: A City Woven Together, which Foundation Board Chair Walter Stern, eloquently explained as a fabric formed by weaving different threads together, much the way the Albuquerque community is made up of diverse people, businesses and ideas, all working together to form a beautiful, strong and resilient tapestry.

Each table also contained a blank, rolled-up check, representing $500 from the table sponsor. Tablemates deliberated and decided collectively which nonprofit to fund. Throughout the event, the sound of distant hooves could be ‘heard,’ too.

Finally, the herd from Southwest Capital Bank stampeded into the Hotel Albuquerque ballroom, bringing with it the bank’s mascot, Buffalos! One person at each table designated the $100 check to one of the five nonprofits – separate and above the $500!

The first surprise of the Great Grant Giveaway was when each table participant tore open an envelope at their place setting. One of these envelopes contained a lucky golden ticket worth $5000 from PNM. The fortunate winner, Anne Nokes (pictured at right), chose Homewise from the five designated nonprofits to receive the grant.

In another surprise, a new Giving Circle at the Foundation, Business Braggers, was introduced. An idea created by Next Gen community leaders around the concept of Stop Bagging, Start Bragging, Business Braggers is about the positive community vibe right now: jobs are at an all-time high, new companies are moving to ABQ and the entrepreneurial ecosystem has exploded. This collective group of small business owners made an impact grant of $13,000 to the International District Economic Development Center. Want to become a Business Bragger? Email Marisa Magallanez, Advancement Manager, marisa@abqcf.org.

Brad Robb, Executive Director, of the Anderson Charitable Foundation dropped by to give away a special grant to Project Feed the Hood. Brad spoke about the collective effort needed to help improve the health and wellbeing of the communities in which we all live, work and play, especially for people who are vulnerable and low income. Project Feed the Hood is doing just that – supporting those who are currently living in the International District and have less access to healthy, organic foods.

At it again! The Future Fund and Social Giving Club banded together to make one large collective impact grant of $5,000 at this year’s event. The two giving circles took it to a vote before the big day. Social Giving Club member, Sanju Engineer and Future Fund Board Chair, Chris Jaramillo presented the grant to Homewise. Curious about joining one of the Giving Circles? Email Chanel Wiese, Future Fund Liaison, chanel@abqcf.org or Denise Nava, Social Giving Club Liaison, denise@abqcf.org.

They say the number seven is lucky. And seven sure was the lucky number for the five nonprofit organizations chosen as recipients at the 7th annual Great Grant Giveaway. These community-based groups shared a record breaking $151,860. This year’s nonprofit grantees are Homewise, International District Economic Development Center (IDEDC), Artful Life, Project Feed the Hood and Innovation Academy.

The theme of this year’s event was Tapestry: A City Woven Together, which Foundation Board Chair Walter Stern, eloquently explained as a fabric formed by weaving different threads together, much the way the Albuquerque community is made up of diverse people, businesses and ideas, all working together to form a beautiful, strong and resilient tapestry.

Each table also contained a blank, rolled-up check, representing $500 from the table sponsor. Tablemates deliberated and decided collectively which nonprofit to fund. Throughout the event, the sound of distant hooves could be ‘heard,’ too.

Finally, the herd from Southwest Capital Bank stampeded into the Hotel Albuquerque ballroom, bringing with it the bank’s mascot, Buffalos! One person at each table designated the $100 check to one of the five nonprofits – separate and above the $500!